Design Philosophy

The Grandview Fantasy Series Tab-Tension Motorized Screen features a streamlined aluminum alloy housing that combines flame resistance, durability, and refined aesthetics. Its clean, understated design integrates easily into a wide range of interior styles. The spacious casing allows ample room for the motor and drive components while promoting efficient heat dissipation, ensuring stable and reliable long-term operation. A curved cable self-tensioning system applies uniform force across the entire screen surface, effectively eliminating wrinkles, waves, and edge curl even after extended use. Paired with a quiet motor, the screen operates smoothly and with minimal noise, avoiding distraction during viewing or meetings. Multiple control options further enhance adaptability across different usage scenarios.

Core Advantages

Flexible Installation

Supports wall-mounted, ceiling-mounted, and suspended installation to suit home theater and office environments.

Multiple Control Options

Supports manual control, infrared remote control, trigger control, external wall switch, and wireless smart synchronized power control.

Durable Construction

The housing is made from 6063 aluminum alloy, offering excellent corrosion and oxidation resistance for long service life.

Smooth, Low-Noise Operation

Equipped with a low-noise motor that delivers stable, smooth, and quiet performance.

Ultra-Flat Screen Surface

Self-tensioning curved cable design distributes force evenly, effectively eliminating wrinkles and “V-shaped” waves to maintain a consistently flat viewing surface.
